Press Release

Jason Constantine promoted to President of North End Composites and Back Cove Yachts

Rockland, ME. May 15, 2013: We are pleased to announce that Jason Constantine has been promoted to President of both North End Composites and Back Cove Yachts. He will also continue to assume the responsibilities of Chief Operating Officer for both companies.

Over the last four years, Jason has been responsible for all manufacturing operations at the Rockland facility, where lamination work is carried out for Sabre Yachts (Raymond, Maine) and the Back Cove product line is built.

Christopher Evans, CEO of North End Composites and Back Cove Yachts, said: "Jason has demonstrated, during his years at Sabre Yachts and at Back Cove Yachts, a deep understanding of composites and boat building, as well as showing remarkable leadership skills. He is without doubt the right person to take over the senior position at our company."

Jason joined Sabre Yachts in 2003 as a member of the assembly team, building the Sabreline 47, the first of Sabre's big power boats. He then became an Assembly Line Supervisor in 2005. In 2007, Jason was asked to move to Rockland to manage Back Cove production, and assumed the COO title in 2010.

Jason is a graduate of Stonehill College, holding an Honors B.S. in Biology. He is currently serving as the VP on the Maine Marine Trades Association board of directors.

About Back Cove Yachts:

Back Cove Yachts are built by 100 of Maine's finest boat builders in a modern 240,000 square foot facility in Rockland, Maine. The Back Cove hardtop express designs will suit every boater's needs and are available in lengths from 30 to 41 feet. The company will be introducing two new models to the range: The Downeast 37 in the summer of 2013 and the Back Cove 41 in early 2014. Back Cove's Associates are extremely proud of their craft and are passionate about building the finest, most trouble free yachts available today.

Please visit the Back Cove Yachts homepage for more information on the company.
